Group dynamics are important. Everyone needs to have a chance to share, and it's important that no one person dominates the group. It is expected that members will treat each other and the leader with respect.

If a member is causing problems for the group, Linda will communicate with that person privately. If it continues to be a problem, Linda reserves the right to terminate that person's membership in the group.

By filling in your name below, you agree to the above, and acknowledge your understanding of the above as well as your responsibility to be a kind and respectful group member.
